

Guidance for former individual members re-joining The Property Institute (TPI) (formerly IRPM & ARMA)

TPI welcomes former individual members back into membership. Please email info@tpi.org.uk and request a re-joiners form.

We understand that members may return to the profession after taking a career break or moving into a different sector for a time.

At the discretion of TPI applicants may be re-admitted at the same level of individual membership they previously held:

- Ceased members who have been awarded a TPI (previously IRPM) Level 4 qualification, our Scottish Diploma or passed the retired Part II exam, may apply to be re-admitted at Full-Member level upon payment of the appropriate subscription.
- Ceased members who have been awarded a TPI (previously IRPM) Level 3 qualification may apply to be re-admitted at Associate level on payment of the appropriate subscription.
- Ceased members who have previously passed the retired IRPM Part I exam (but have not been awarded our Level 3 qualification) and were awarded Associate level membership will be re-admitted at Affiliate level on payment of the appropriate subscription. Progression back to Associate level will then be dependent upon award of a TPI Level 3 qualification.
- Ceased members who have been awarded a TPI (previously IRPM) Level 2 qualification or have no qualification will be re-admitted at Affiliate level on payment of the appropriate subscription.
- Ceased members who are AssocRICS, MRICS may be offered direct entry at Full Member level on payment of the appropriate subscription.
